

Tertiary Education Commission
Te Amorangi Mātauranga Matua

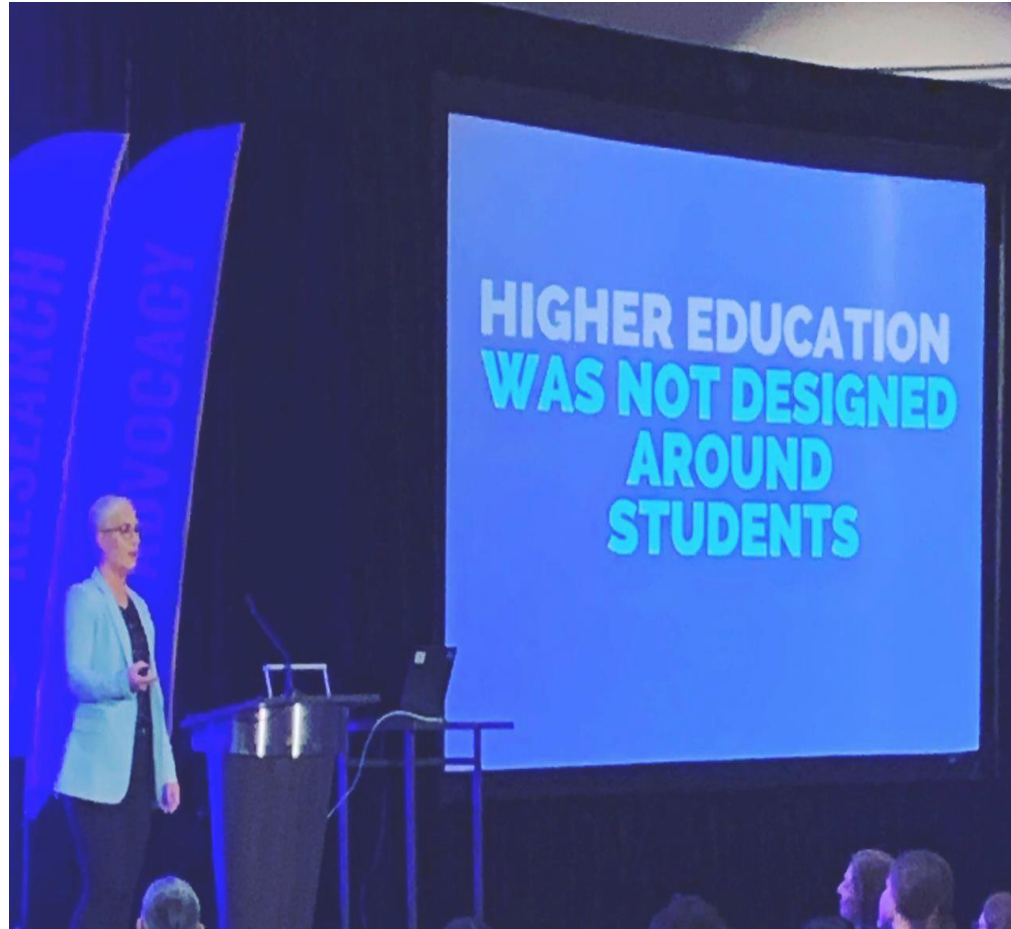

Data advocacy and policy development

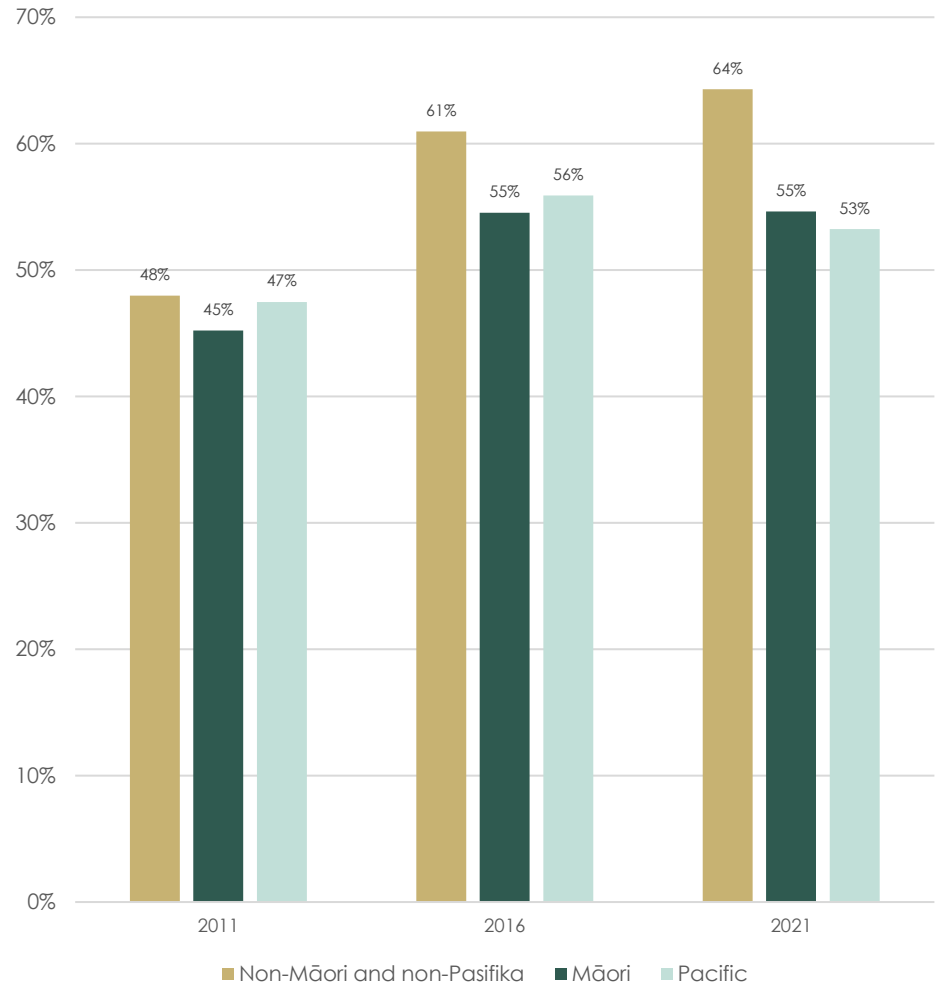

Our vision

A resilient, prosperous Aotearoa New Zealand – where every person has the skills, knowledge and confidence to create a fulfilling life

Us too?

The shape of the system – performance

Qualification completion rates – selected years. All learners

We can change the story...

Georgia State University predictive analytics project with EAB

10 YEARS
OF DATA

2.5 MILLION
GRADES

800+

ANALYTICS-BASED

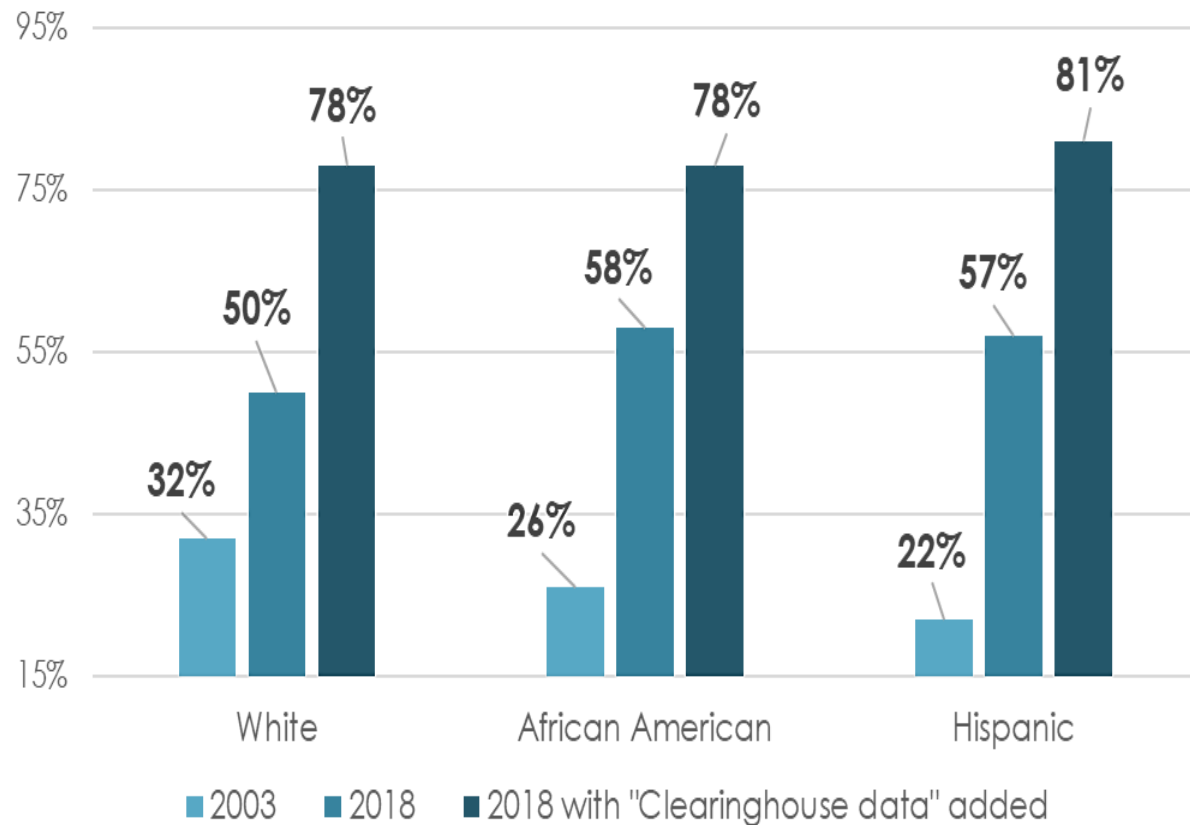

ALERTS

144,000
STUDENT RECORDS

30,000 STUDENTS
TRACKED DAILY

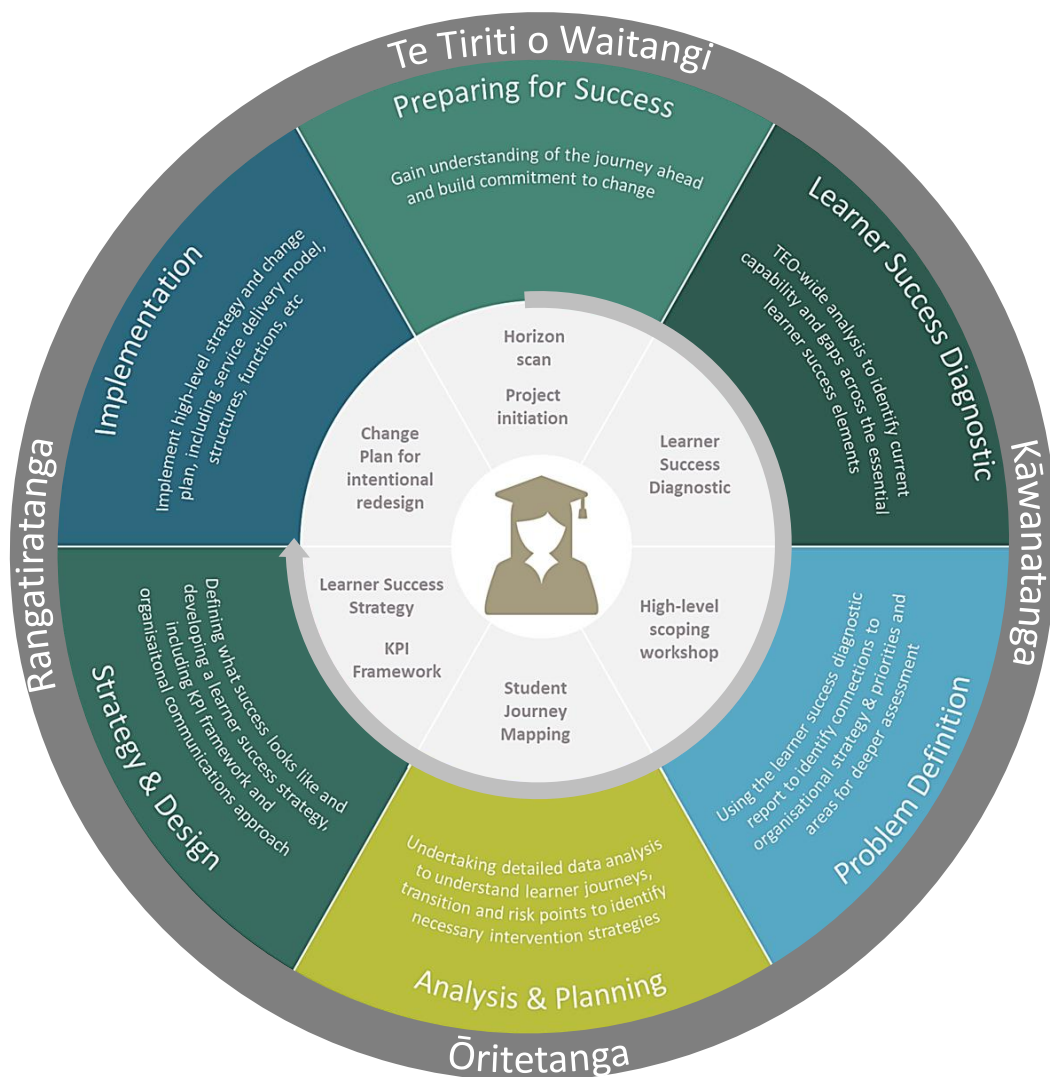

We can change the story...

Georgia State University – graduation rates by ethnicity

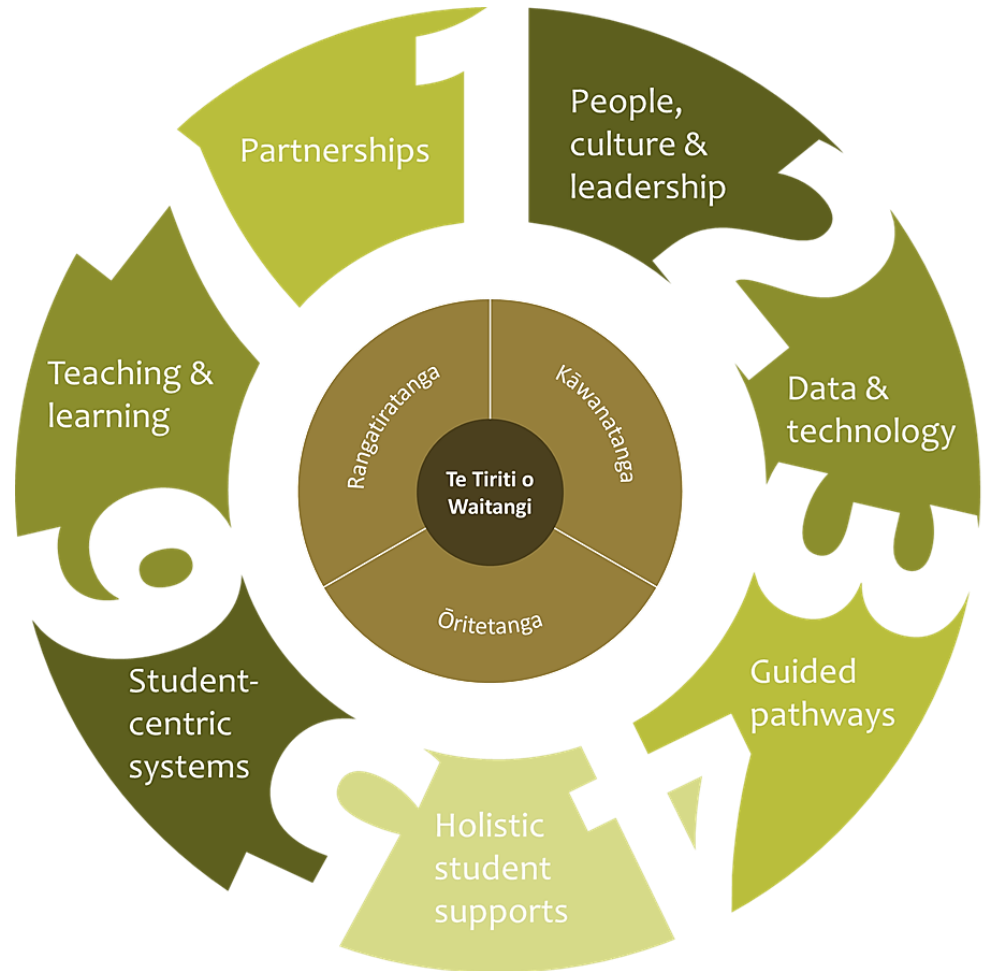

Whole of system change

Learner Success Framework

TEO capabilities

Learner Success Diagnostic Tool

A whole of system approach

Pacific earners and their influencers have the support and experiences to make good educational and career choices

Pacific communities and industry have an empowered voice in shaping the system

Capable, focused and accountable TEOs and sector leadership at all levels

TEC Investment processes support and incentivise good outcomes for all learners

TEC has the internal capability and external relationships required to drive change

Case study: Pacific school leavers transitions

Identify successful secondary to tertiary transition initiatives

Quantitative approach

Qualitative
approach

Key findings: secondary sector

- Declining transition rate into tertiary education
- Undermatching enrolment patterns
- Pressing socio-economic considerations

Key findings: tertiary sector

- Defining a transition programme
- Influencing tertiary and careers decision making
- Responding to changes

Next steps

Funding levers

- Investment in transition programmes
- Learner Success Plan approaches

Non-funding levers

- Data visualisation tools
- Community of Practice
- National Career Strategy

“Until we get equality in education, we won't have an equal society”

Sonia Sotomayor

